Dear Conclave '80 Participant:

Hosting the 23rd A.S.C.F. Conclave was a distinct pleasure for all of us here at Virginia Tech - the Forestry Club, student body, faculty and staff. While planning such an undertaking is a big job for dozens of people, success of the actual event is a much bigger job involving hundreds of people - all those participating, observing and serving in various official and unofficial capacities. Friendly competition, sportsmanship, and cooperation form the basis on which a Conclave might be judged, and if these be the criteria, Conclave 1980 was a huge success.

The nearly 700 participants and observers (a record) from 15 schools (another record) exhibited a degree of sportsmanship and friendliness which would be difficult to surpass. Despite inclement (actually lousy) weather on Friday, everyone maintained bouyant spirits and developed a camaraderie which carried throughout the Conclave. Coincident with this spirit, an award for good sportsmanship was made to Texas A & M as the School best exemplifying helpfulness and cooperation throughout Conclave. Although the Sportsmanship Award is not an official Conclave award, it is our hope that it will become so in the future.

Our biggest disappointment in Conclave was our inability to bring the entire group to Campus for at least one event. Scheduling conflicts and logistics, however, did not allow us to do so. I hope you will consider this inability on our part to be sufficient justification for a return soon to the Virginia mountains.

Y'all come,

R. L. McElwee
Conclave Advisor

Dear Fellow Foresters:

The 23rd Annual ASFC Conclave is only a memory now. In my mind it is a good one and something I will always hold dear. I hope this memory is not dampened (sick) for anyone because of the rain. The sun shown for us Saturday and made Friday's mud bearable.

I don't want to be too dramatic but I would like to share a few thoughts with you. First, I would like to thank all of those who pitched in when there was work to be done. I saw people from every school lending a hand and a smile when it was needed. Thanks should also go to the competitors who make all the effort that goes into putting a Conclave together worth while. I believe this years competition was the best I've been priveledged to watch.

Competition is the ranking factor, but it's only a part of what Conclave is all about. The big picture shows me that there are three other aspects which blend into the competitive atmosphere. Spirit is the first of these.

Spirit should be everywhere. Not only school spirit, but also the spirit of conclaves past, present and future. The past affects us today and our current attitudes will affect the togetherness of tomorrow. Yell and scream your heart out as long as it is in a positive direction.

Another ingredient in this mix is friendship. Everyone should be at Conclave to meet as many people as possible. Exchange ideas. Go home thinking and telling stories about the friends you have recently made. You may never see each other again but each participant (competitor or spectator) has shared two days, a brief moment in life but one which most of us will remember, with 600 others. Each life of that 600 should have been affected in some good way by someone they have never seen before.

The catalyst of this managerie, known as Conclave, is Sportsmanship. This spans all that goes into a Conclave. It eventually catches everyone in it's ever expanding path. We shouldn't have to wait until the last event to pull for the other guy. We should get off the bus with our hand held out and a smile on each face. We don't need to bicker over endless rules. We don't need to fight with each other. We do need to get out and pull for the next competitor, shake a hand, and share a beer.

I hope to see as much competition in the future for the Sportsmanship Award as there is now for the Overall Team Trophy. Its up to Tennessee to see that the best team wins in both catagories.

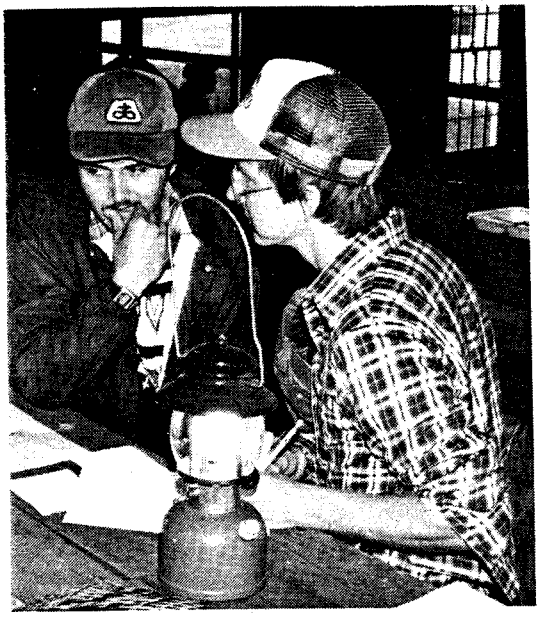

Thanks for the experience.

See you in Tennessee.

Sincerely,

Rob Oderwald
Conclave Chairman

Forestry Club

University of Arkansas at Monticello

Monticello, Arkansas 71655

The UAM Forestry Club began the 79-80 year right by initiating 16 new members, bringing the total head count to 48.

Pulpwood operations and football program sales were conducted by the club to raise money needed for a bus to this year's ASFC Conclave. Well over $2,000 was raised by the end of the first semester.

This year's annual "field day" competition, held on March 8th to determine Conclave representatives, received statewide TV coverage. The winners and alternates will travel, along with other club members for a total of 45, to this year's ASFC Conclave in Hillsville, Virginia March 27 and 28.

AUBURN UNIVERSITY

The main objectives of the Auburn Forestry Club are to promote academic excellence, to gain an understanding of and appreciation for Forestry as a curriculum, a career, and a way of life.

Our Club meets bi-weekly to attend to business at hand and to offer our members a chance to hear interesting speakers.

The Education Committee sponsors "The Distinguished Student Lecture Series." Each quarter a distinguished professional forester is invited to come to Auburn and give a presentation. These lectures are open to students, faculty, and the general public.

Winter quarter the Social Committee hosted the annual Woodsmen Ball. This event promotes the brotherhood of the faculty, alumni, and the students. The Awards Banquet also occurs winter quarter and outstanding students, as well as professors, are awarded for their achievement.

The coming of spring quarter always begins with attendance of Conclave. An event practiced for with many hours of hard work. On return from Conclave everyone must prepare for Ag Day on which High School students visit the Forestry Department to get an idea what Forestry is all about. We usually wind up spring quarter by working at the Forest Festival held in Montgomery each year. This event gives the club an opportunity to make some money as will as meet professionals in the field.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY

The Clemson University Forestry Club has spent another exciting and busy school year this year. Raising the funds for our trip to the ASFC Conclave and other expenses, providing fun and fellowship for the members.

Again this year, the club sold corn dogs and soft drinks during the long Homecoming Weekend, while the huge displays were being constructed. The all night vigil has become a real profitable tradition.

In addition to the Homecoming booth, the club sold Christmas trees during December for the Clemson Area. However, most of the effort this year, as usual, was directed toward the firewood sales which continued for several months.

Getting ready for the ASFC Conclave has been a year long activity for the club, and practice conclaves were held in the Clemson Forest quite frequently. The club initiated 16 new members during one of these conclaves in the early Fall, culminating a week of formal servitude by the potential members.

In January, a team from Clemson participated in various conclave events at the Industrial Fair in Asheville, North Carolina.

It has been a successful year for many Clemson forestry students, who were honored at the Xi Sigma Pi/Forestry Club Banquet held in late March.

Looking forward to next year----GO TIGERS!!!!!

The Fightin' Gator Forestry Club went Bananas at the 23rd ASFC Conclave. Outstanding performances by Jeff Markwood in Pole Classification (1st place), Danny Duce in Chain Throw (3rd), and the team of Jeff Markwood and Jim Hunt in the Log Roll (3rd), kicked the normally cellar dwelling Gators into the thick of the fight. We will be back next year in Tennessee to show that the University of Florida Foresters are going nowhere but UP!!

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

The Forestry Club at the University of Georgia carries on many activities throughout the year. Every fall and winter a field day is held to test participants in the same events as those at conclave. The fall field day is used as a practice and the winter field day is used to select who will represent the club at conclave. On the night of the field days a square dance is held which always draws a large crowd. The club sponsors several fund-raising activities during the year including an annual turkey shoot, aluminum recycling drives, and selling club T-shirts. In May, the Forestry Club, along with Xi Sigma Pi fraternity and the Wildlife Society, cosponsor the annual Spring Awards Banquet. At this banquet, members of the junior and senior class are honored for their academic achievements and extracurricular activities. Generally, representatives from several industries are in attendance to present awards and scholarships to students.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

The University of Kentucky Forestry Club sponsors activities that offer new experiences and personal contacts for the forestry student. We begin our year with a picnic/keg party for the faculty and students. it's our chance to meet new students, catch up on news with the "old" students, and to meet the faculty on the volleyball court instead of the classroom.

Our meetings, held about once a month, usually include a speaker from a government agency or private industry related to forestry. Past topics have included the Multiple-Use concept, employment possibilities with the state and student's slide shows of U.K. students at summer camp and at Conclave.

This fall, for the first time, we sponsored a forest fire fighter training course, given by the U.S. Forest Service. Spring semester will complete our training when we're called in to help fight forest fires.

December is our month for Christman trees. We cut and sell approximately 200 white and Scotch pines each year.

Then there's Conclave---we're a small department (about 140 students all total) so we pull together to send our best competitors. Our best overall event is WILD LIFE.... we come to have a good time.

Other club activities for the Spring include the possibility of doing either T.S.I. work or planting trees for the state, the idea of a weekend seminar/get-together for underclassmen and our annual spring picnic and keg party.

Our officers this year have been: Tina Meiners, President; Tom McGee, Vice-President; Ruth Weber, Secretary-Treasurer; and Susan Schrage, Activities, Dr. Bob Muller. It's been a good year--next year'll be another!

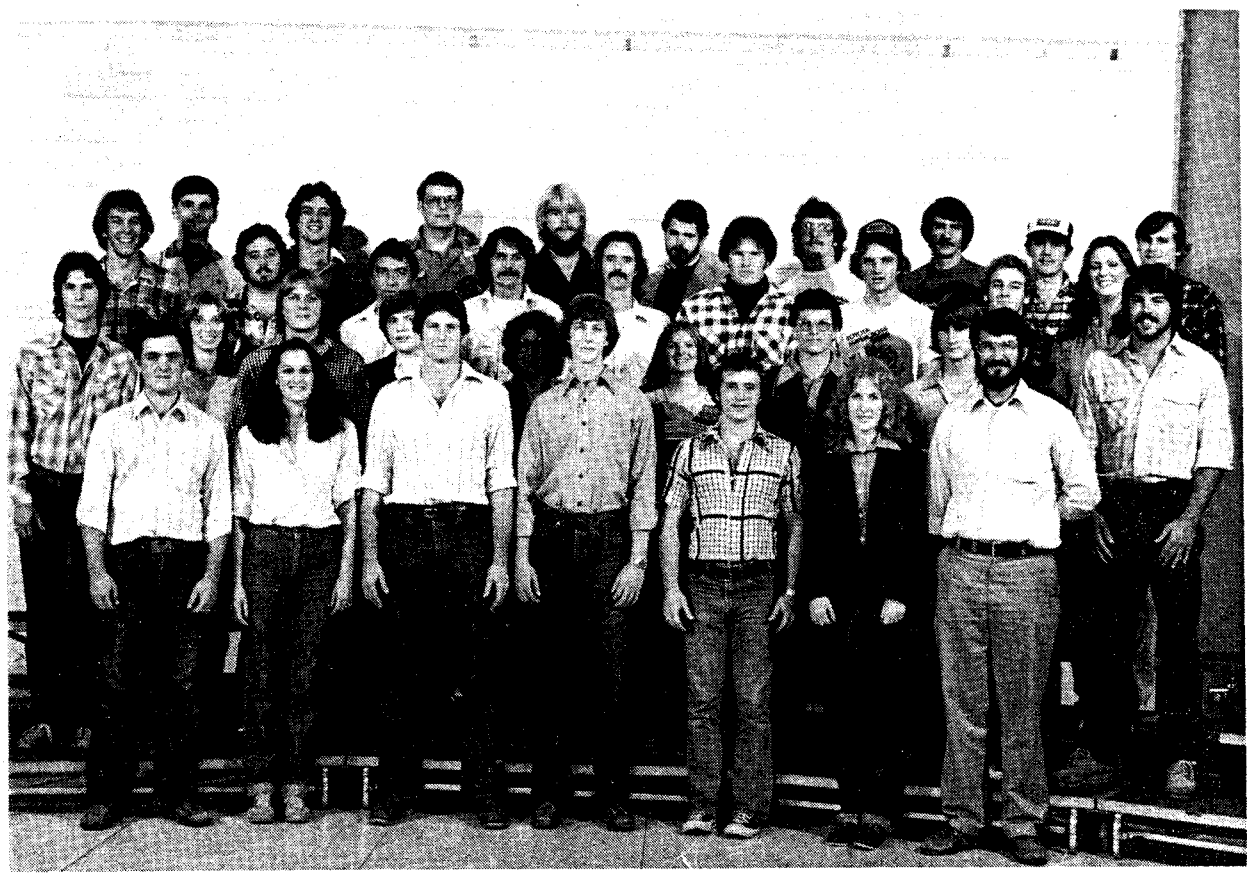

LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY

At the Beginning of every Fall semester at LSU, students and faculty of Forestry have a chance to get together on an informal basis at the annual fall smoker. At some of our monthly meetings, we have guest speakers, including faculty members, students and people employed in the forest industry. Homecoming is a festive time when students and alumni have a chance to meet at our Homecoming Alumni Supper. Christmas is a time for making money. The Club sells Xmas Trees to the general public for a good price.

Throughout both semesters our yearbook staff is taking pictures of professors and students in their natural habitats, learning together. Most of the Spring semester is spent putting together the Conclave. The competitors and spectators enjoy crawfish and beer for nourishment. Also during the spring semester, there is a contest to pick a design for the Forestry Club T-shirt.

LOUISIANA TECH UNIVERSITY

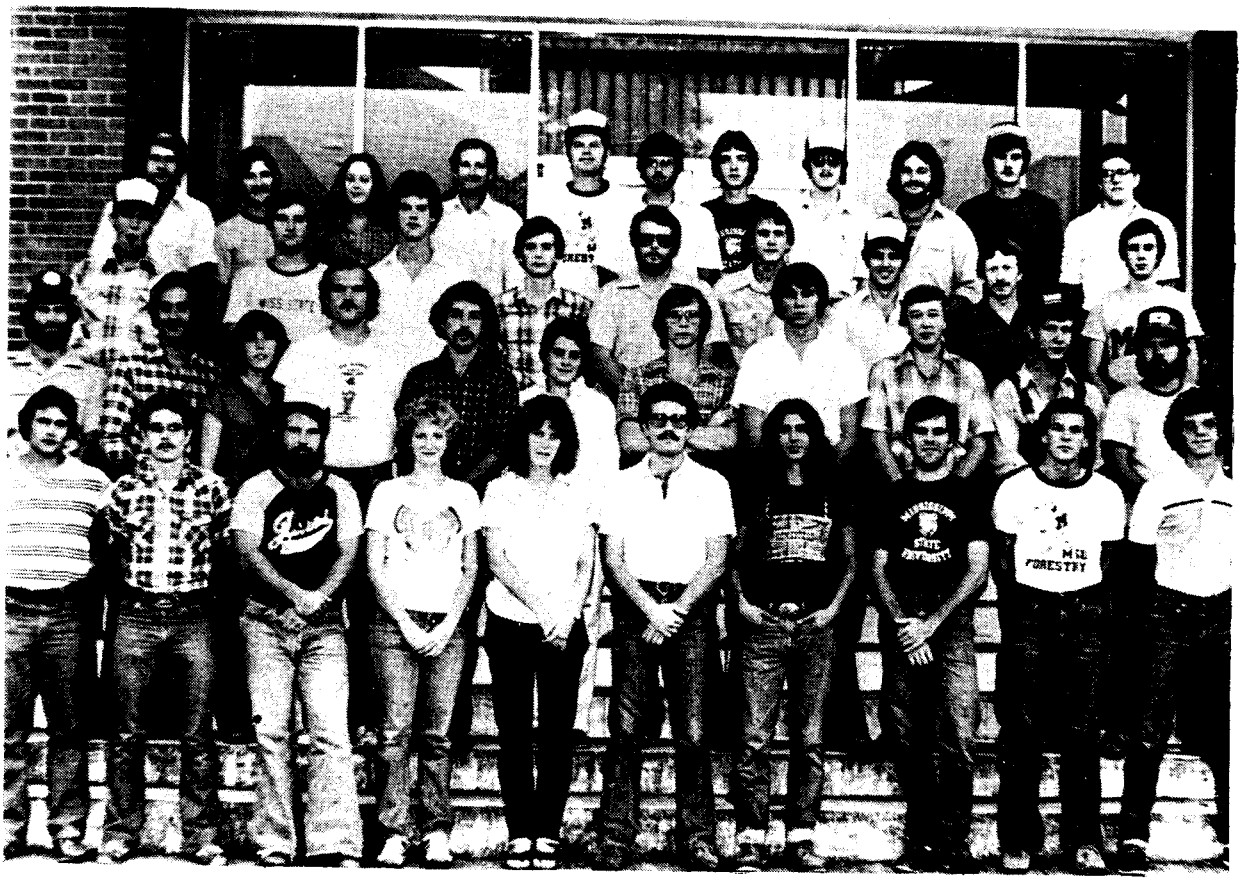

The Louisiana Tech student chapter of the Society of American Foresters attended its first conclave when it joined the ASFC in Monticello, Ark. just last year. Those of us who attended had a great time and came back to Tech ready to go to work preparing for this year's conclave. Most of us were seniors who went to camp together this last summer, and we started working on firewood cutting and practicing for the different conclave contests at the camp. After school began in the fall, we all talked the conclave up and managed to get our club membership to an all-time high. In comparison to other clubs, in the conclave, we are still small, but trying hard.

Officers for this year's club are Robert Wilson, president; Skip Tomlison, vice-president; Lois Tice, treasurer; Celeste Stockwell, secretary and Madeline Howard, conclave chairman. Faculty advisors for the club are Dr. Richard Neill and Dr. Fred Jewell.

The club has had the support of several forest industries in this area in terms of cash and equipment donations. In addition, we have had numerous money-making projects including firewood cutting, aluminium can collecting, and tree planting. Unfortunately, the northern part of Louisiana has had a mild winter, so our firewood sales did not produce as much income as we had hoped for. We have also combined a little pleasure with some hard work and given several parties. Working toward the conclave in Virginia this year has proved to many people that Tech foresters can raise money as well as hell.

MISSISSIPPI STATE UNIVERSITY

MSU's Annual Forestry Smoker gave everyone a chance to relax and catch up on the summer's activities.

The club did not waste time in sharpening up their chainsaws and axes early in the Fall to supply most of Starkville with firewood.

The Fall Field Day, held in October, gave contestants a chance to prove their natural abilities in some of the Conclave events. It also showed some, that only practice could get their muscles in shape for the more strenuous events.

MSU's wood technology band entertained everyone with bluegrass music at the annual Christmas Dance. Several members demonstrated the technique of clogging.

Spring Field Day in March was a warm-up for the 1980 Conclave at VPI. Roy Trotter and Bruce Davenport provided excitement with Roy finishing pole climbing in three seconds.

The 1979-80 officers who organized all the social and fund raising activities included: Brian Reed, President; Ken Olenderski, Vice-President; Doug Bider, Secretary-Treasurer; and Greg Janzen, Conclave Chairman.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE UNIVERSITY

When they're not competing at the Conclave, N.C. State Forestry Club members are busy at home working, practicing, and putting on special events. All year long, the club raises money through Saturday tree jobs, taking down trees in Raleigh's neighborhoods. The Pigpicken' in the early Fall and the Rolleo in October are the club's Fall activities that bring everyone out for a good time. The Rolleo serves as an early warm-up for Conclave, as all four classes compete against each other. This year the Seniors came away with the victory once again . Two smaller competitions in Burnsville and Ashville, N.C., have helped keep up the momentum all Winter. The Conclave and Loggers' Brawl, a big night of square dancing, are the highlights of Spring semester. The club always takes a good crowd to Conclave, and this year the runoffs before hand were pretty fierce. Many thanks from N.C. State to the Virginia Tech Club for Conclave 1980!!

OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY

The 1980 OSU Forestry Club is an adament group of approximately sixty students who work together throughout the school year, mostly in the area of Conclave preparation; ie. our most important annual adventure is the A.S.F.C. Conclave. This is the main consumer of our financial resources, but we also sponsor scholarships, work with charities and other social organizations. To generate revenue, we sell cokes at the football games, cut firewood, and hold raffles.

Our social activities consist of a Christmas and Spring Banquet, a "Log Sam" in the Fall, and a "Timber Carnival" in the Spring. "Timber Carnival" is comparable to a Field Day, and as far as the Spring goes, this year the temperature was 9° with a wind chill factor of -22. But by damn, our people turned out! This is probably the best example of the class of individual comprumising our club, a bunch of darn good you can depend on.

STEVEN F. AUSTIN

The S.F.A. Sylvans Forestry Club is a hardworking organization dedicated to improving the personal knowledge, friendship and leadership of forestry students at Steven F. Austin.

During the year, the club does tree service work to raise money for its annual trip to Conclave, organizes and presents the Annual Lumberjack Day activities during Homecoming Week at S.F.A. during the Fall, and cooperates with other clubs in presenting the annual Forestry Parents Day in the Spring.

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE

TEXAS A&M

Texas A & M Forestry Club 1979-1980 with forty active members.
This year the club has worked hard preparing a permanent site for Skidadoo. Their money making projects included Christmas tree sales, pine cone collecting and cord wood sales. Good Luck to everyone at the next Conclave and we'll see you there.

VIRGINIA TECH

After two long years its hard to believe its over. It feels like we've been working and saving forever, and the main message I wish to convey to all you fellow foresters is WAHOO, WAHOO, HOT DAMN WAHOO.

The Forestry Club is the largest curriculum club on the Va. Tech campus with over 200 members. The members annually participate in several large scale money-making ventures- the Fall firewood sale and Spring seedling sale. Also during the Fall and Spring quarters, interested students lovingly refered to as "possums" are initiated into the club. One must work to become a member of our family. The hard work makes it all worthwhile. We did take a break from two years of Conclave preparation to put on our footstompers at the Winter Timberbeast Dance. Its a time when we let our hair down and bring back alumni for a good time of dancing and reminiscing.

Hosting Conclave this year was a true experience that I wouldn't have missed for the world. We want to wish Tennessee the best of luck with Conclave 1981. Its alot of work, but you'll come out a closer and better club for it. We're more than willing to offer any and all help needed.

It is very hard to confine to words the feelings of the Va. Tech Forestry Club members. We'd be lying if we said there weren't difficult times. There were times of mental and physical strain, times of anger and frustration, but most of all, times of sharing, caring, and friendship. Aside from the task of preparing for Conclave we had to pull together and develop and support a winning, competative team. I want to extend congratulations and many thanks to all club members for making this a number one team after twenty-two years of trying. We are a number one team which will remain number one for years to come (yes, that's a challenge).

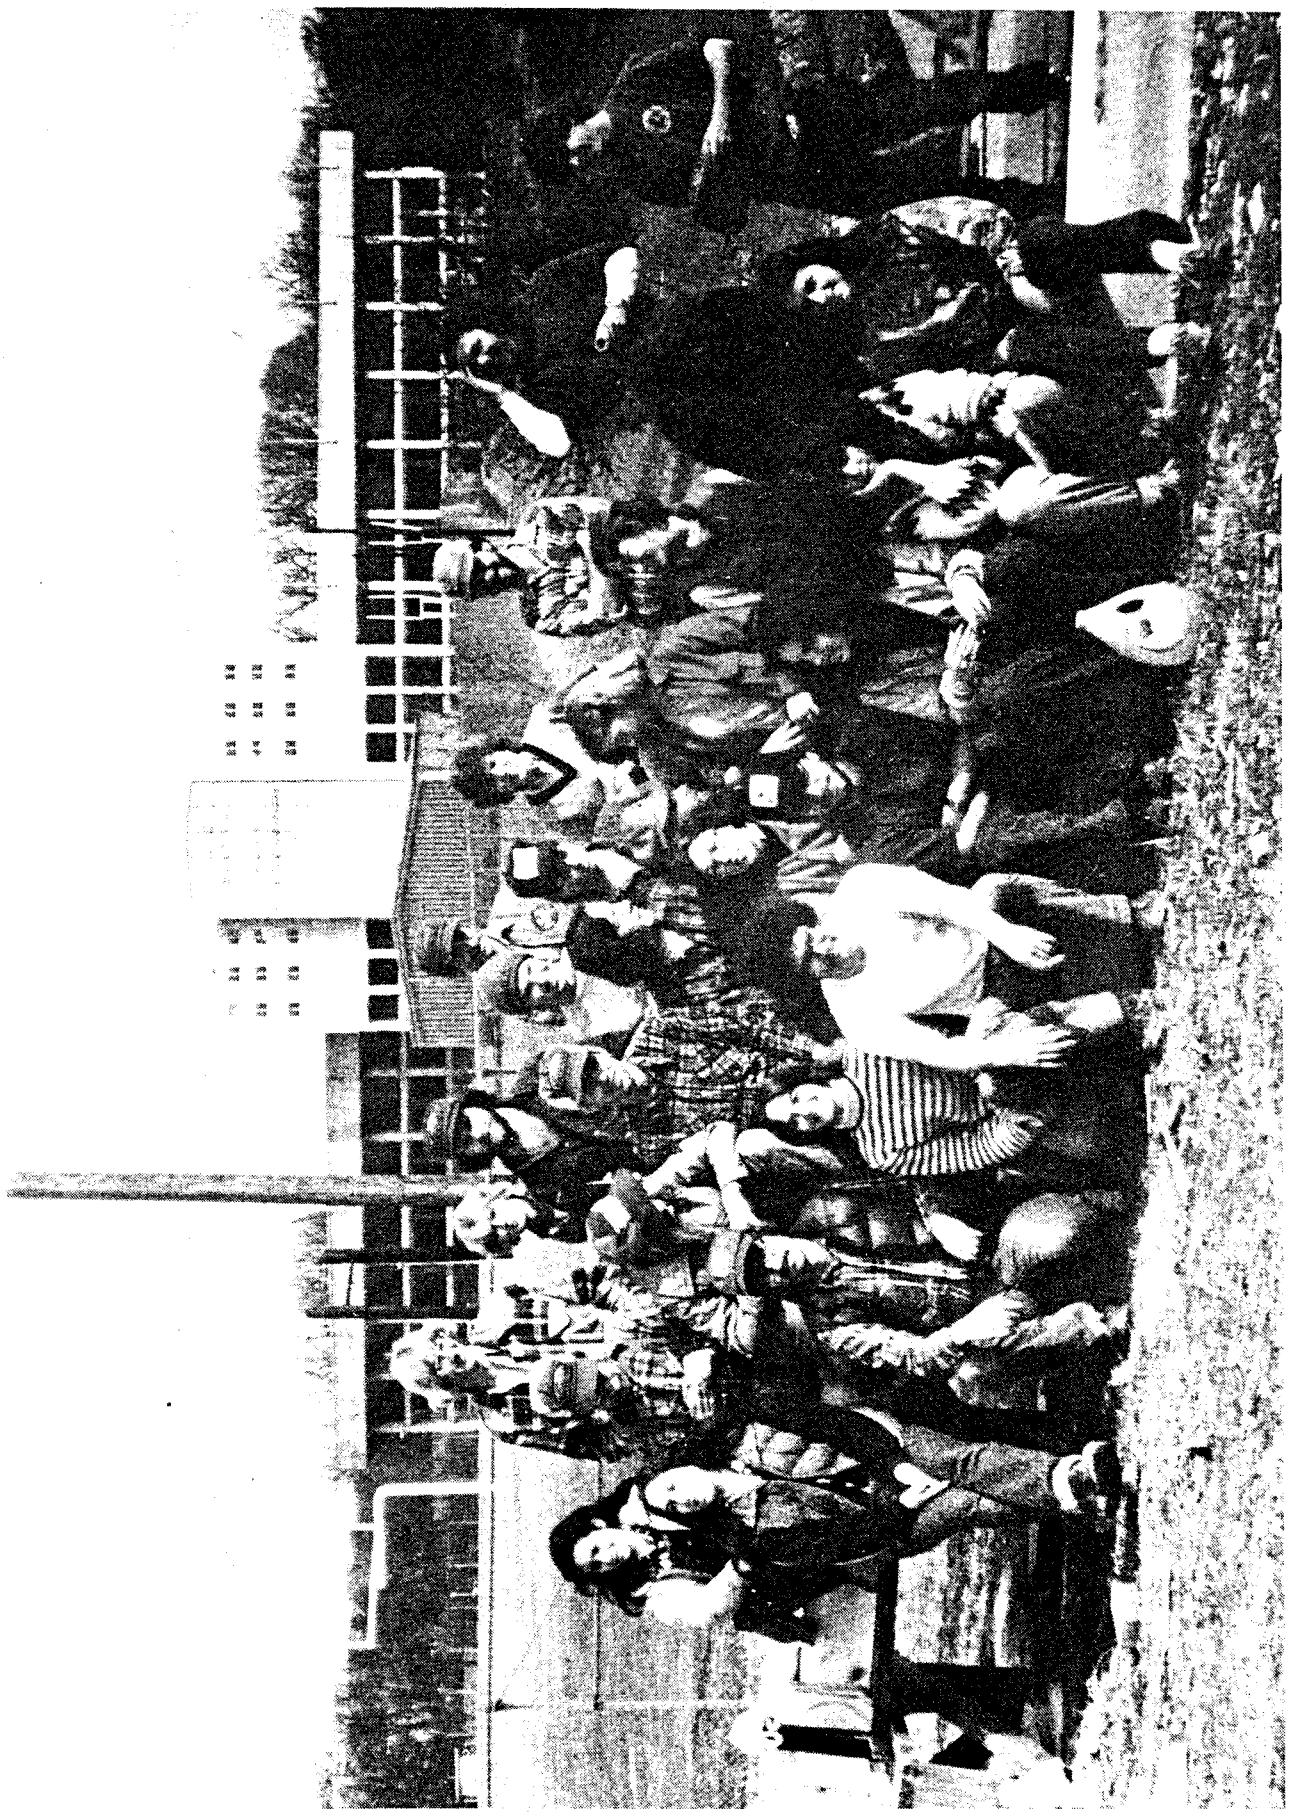

Its been a wonderful year, and I wouldn't change a moment of it. I want to thank all you Va. Tech foresters for your dedication, hard work, and support throughout the year. I love each and every one of you and thank you for being part of our forestry family. Also many thanks go to you the members of the ASFC for making this year's Conclave one hell of a success.

In closing, we'd like to recognize two special entities. First, warm congratulations from the Hokies to the Aggies for winning the Outstanding Sportsmanship Award. We the Hokies challenge you the Aggies, to retain this award next year at Tennessee. And lastly, many thanks to Rob Oderwald for without whom it all wouldn't have been possible. We love you Uncle Robert!

See you at Tennessee,

ENERGY MATTERS . . . At Union Camp

More than half of the energy requirements of our Company come from wood by-products which might otherwise be wasted. By using bark, sawdust and other wood residues as fuel to produce steam and electricity, we are minimizing fossil fuel usage. And, unlike fossil fuel . . . wood is a renewable resource.

Union Camp for years has used by-products to produce energy, and since the early 1970's we have put an even higher priority on energy conservation. As a result, at the Savannah Plant, we've reduced our consumption of purchased fossil fuel more than 30 percent per ton of paper produced in recent years.

Energy matters to us at Union Camp. Make energy conservation a matter of importance in your life too!

"WHERE GOOD FORESTRY IS MORE THAN TREES"

The Buckeye Cellulose Corporation

More Than Trees . . .

A modern forest products company such as Potlatch is many things. Trees. Equipment. Plants. Capital. But most of all, it's people. A young forester working toward the genetic improvement of the company's half-million acre Arkansas forest. Computer specialists. Salesmen. Equipment operators. Engineers. Working men and women. All involved, in one way or another, with the management and conversion of tree crops into products that people want and need.

People. They're what the American economic system is all about.
