SOUTHERN FORESTER

1986

CAMP TYLER, TEXAS

NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

Howdy, foresters. Here is the "1986 Southern Forester." The editorial staff has worked long and hard on this edition. I feel that we captured many of the aspects of what Conclave stands for; sportsmanship, competition and an overall good time.

I would like to thank all the people that volunteered their time to make this publication a success. I hope you have as much fun reading this as we did putting it together.

FROM THE ASFC PRESIDENT

Dear ASFC Members,

The 29th Annual Conclave is over but, hopefully, memories will remain...memories not of the weather, but of fun, fellowship and competition. As host school, Texas A&M worked hard and was very dedicated to making this Conclave a success.

We are indebted to the many people who gave of their time and money to help us, especially the Forest Science Department at Texas A&M and the staff of Camp Tyler. We also appreciate the cooperation and comradeship that you all showed while at Tyler.

Congratulations to Stephen F. Austin and all the individuals that won. The sportsmanship and effort put forth by everyone, both winners and losers, was admirable. A&M was proud to serve as host, and we hope you enjoyed our Aggie Conclave and your visit to the Lone Star State.

Good luck to North Carolina State as you prepare to host the 30th ASFC Conclave. Hosting Conclave is quite an undertaking, but it is also a lot of fun. Best of luck to all the ASFC schools in your activities throughout the year and at North Carolina next year.

Sincerely,

Christy

Christy Gantt

SFA and Arkansas -- 1st and 2nd.

ARKANSAS

The University of Arkansas at Monticello Forestry Club would like to thank Texas A&M for a most enjoyable and well organized 1986 Conclave. We had a great time, even though it rained.

Our projects for the fall and spring semesters consisted mainly of cutting firewood and planting trees. We held our annual Field Day on March 15 to see who would compete for us at Conclave. It went over with a bang. Our annual banquet will be held May 6.

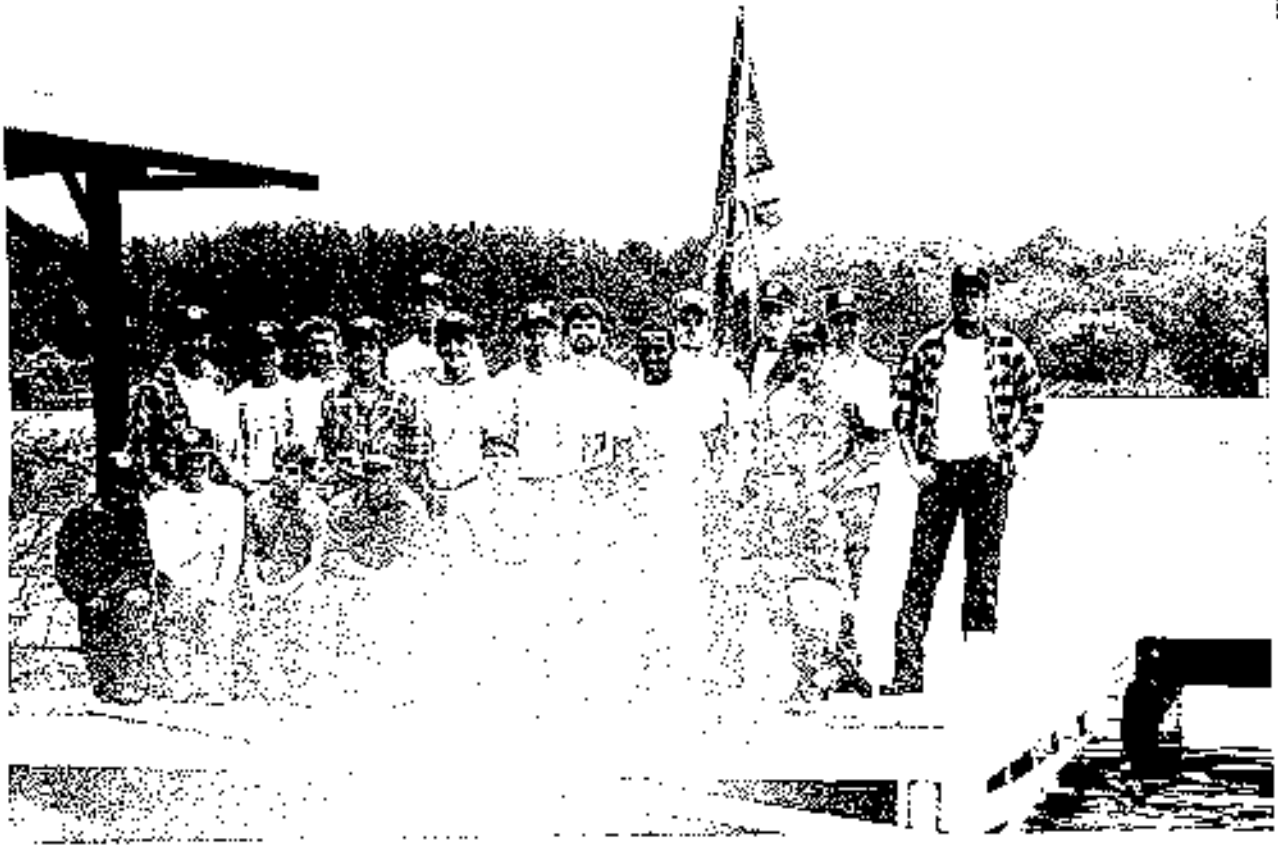

For the 1986-87 year, we will host the sixth Southeast Arkansas Biennial Forestry Equipment Show. For the first time we will co-sponsor this event with the American Pulpwood Association. We are looking forward to this and hope that it will be a big success.

We are looking forward to participating in the 30th ASFC Conclave next year. See ya'll at N.C. State.

CLEMSON

The A.S.F.C. Conclave is the big event each year for our club. Everyone has worked especially hard to come out here this year. Most of the trip was paid for by money raised through firewood sales, corndog sales, Christmas tree sales, and planting trees. But, it is not all work. Eleven people were initiated into the Club this year. We have had parties with other departments and faculty.

The Clemson Forestry Club would like to thank this year's Seniors who worked to ensure a continuing interest in the Club, our advisor, and everyone back in Clemson who helped us make this trip to the beautiful state of Texas. Also, we would like to thank Texas A&M for a great time at the 29th annual Conclave. Hope to see everyone next year in Raleigh.

FLORIDA

GEORGIA

The University of Georgia came 33 strong to the 29th Annual ASFC Conclave at Tyler, Texas. The trip was made possible through fund raising events such as the Tall Brawl, Winter Snowball Dance, and selling firewood. A special thanks goes to the School of Forest Resources alumni for their generous contribution and a special thanks is extended to Dean Leon Hargreaves for his support and donation. We would also like to thank Dr. Dale Greene and Dr. Walter Cook for their time and effort in helping make our participation in the 29th Annual ASFC Conclave possible. We look forward to seeing everyone at the 1987 Conclave in Raleigh, North Carolina.

LOUISIANA STATE

The LSU Student Chapter of the Society of American Foresters has had a great year. Since attending the 28th ASFC Conclave last year in Georgia, we have been involved in many interesting activities not the least of which included intermittent practice for this year's conclave.

In July of 1985, one of our members went to the National SAF Convention in Fort Collins, Colorado. It proved to be such a worthwhile trip to our club that we plan to sponsor another student to attend the national convention this summer. When the fall semester rolled around, we kicked it off in September with our annual Fall Smoker. This is a time when underclassmen are introduced to our club, to its members, and to some of the faculty. On December 6th we held the LSU Forestry Club's traditional Christmas Tree Sale and, again, it was a very big success. Our "mini-conclave" was held in March when LSU's competitors for the 29th ASFC Conclave were decided. The competition was tough in some events, but the lunch of boiled crawfish proved to be of more interest to some that attended than the action itself.

In addition to the above, we held monthly club meetings throughout the year and also a few parties along the way. Then in April, we migrated up to Aggie Country for this year's fun.

See ya'll next year.

LOUISIANA TECH

The Louisiana Tech Forestry Club is becoming more competitive each year. Club membership, which was 25 the previous year, increased to 45 in the 1985-86 academic year. Club members anticipate a further increase in 1986-87, with growing support from forestry students and faculty.

Fund raisers for the club this year included a rifle raffle and a Christmas tree sale. Both were very successful.

Louisiana Tech expressed thanks to Texas A&M for doing a great job at hosting Conclave. It was FUN! See you next year in North Carolina.

MISSISSIPPI STATE

The Mississippi State Forestry Club kicked off this year with our Annual Fall Smoker. The main purpose of this party is to welcome and get to know our new and incoming foresters. This is just one of the many parties held during the year including both Fall and Spring Field Days. Fund raising projects included both firewood selling and the selling of refreshments at the 1st Annual Loggers Show.

The Forestry Club will open the 1986-87 year again with our Annual Smoker combined with a Forestry Club membership drive.

We had a BIG time in Texas and we look forward to seeing ya'll next year.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE

The Wolfpack Forestry club has kept busy this year with the Crabfest competition in Virginia, our own Rolleo, and "Wood for Warmth," where forestry club members donated their time and know-how to gather and cut firewood for the needy of Raleigh. The climbers of the club also sponsored tree climbing training for new members and those used to staying on the ground! At the North Carolina State Fair, we helped educate the public about forestry and wood products at the North Carolina Forestry Association's building. Upcoming events are the Prince George Festival and our Logger's Brawl in May. But most of all, we're excited about and already planning for the 30th Annual Conclave here at North Carolina State University. We're looking forward to seeing all of you in Wolfpack Country in '87!

OKLAHOMA STATE

The Oklahoma State University Forestry Club is glad to have attended the 29th ASFC. OSU has steadily worked throughout the year to improve the quality and quantity of its club. The Forestry Club regularly scheduled a guest speaker at club meetings throughout the year. The speakers represented a wide range of professionals from various natural resource management and forestry product related disciplines. These speakers offered students and faculty insight into the management aspects and employment opportunities in their respective field. The OSU Forestry Club feels this activity provides a service in that it exposes members and non-members to the happenings in forestry and forestry related fields.

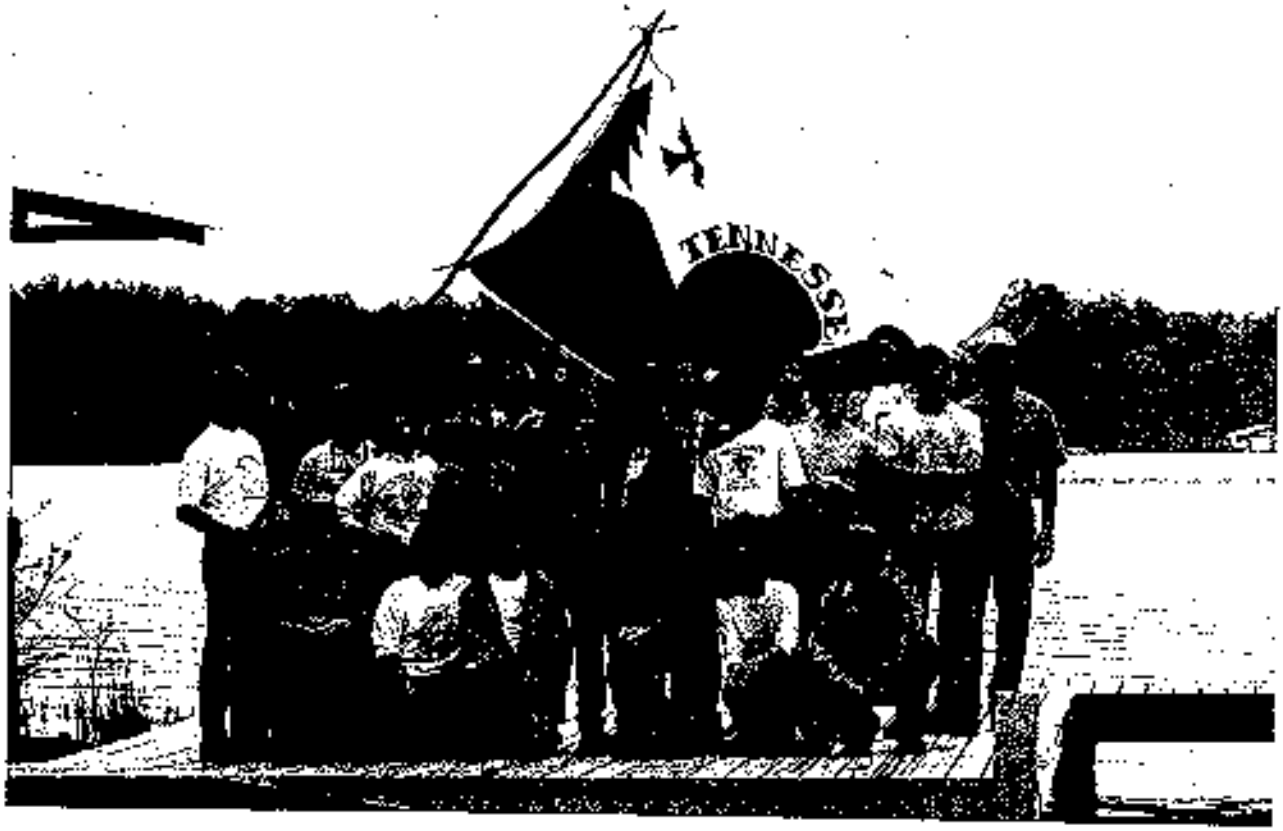

The Oklahoma State University Forestry Club would like to thank Texas A&M University for their gracious Aggie hospitality. The effort and dedication to providing an enjoyable Conclave has been quite evident. OSU looks forward to next year's Conclave hosted by North Carolina State University. See you there.

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN

The Sylvans Club was proud to be a part of the ASFC Conclave this year, and we hope everyone involved has enjoyed our neck of the woods (in spite of our everchanging weather conditions). This is the fortieth anniversary of the Sylvans Club at Stephen F. Austin State University. The Sylvans operate a tree service throughout the community to earn money to send our contestants to Conclave. Other activities in which the Sylvans participate include Lumberjack Day (during homecoming week), intramural sports, and various Field Days in surrounding towns. It was great seeing all of ya'll this year and we will be looking forward to seeing the many familiar faces in North Carolina next spring.

TENNESSEE

TEXAS A&M

The Texas Aggie Foresters had a successful year in addition to hosting the 1986 Conclave. We had an abundance of Old Ags (alumni), grad students, faculty and friends help in putting on the conclave.

In the fall we had the annual smoker in which we welcomed all the new members to the department. We had our semesterly "Undergrad vs. Grad-Faculty Softball Game." In a rare happening the Grad-Faculty team won. This year we also continued selling Christmas trees as our major fund raiser.

In the spring we were hard at work in Tyler most weekends and Spring Break. After Conclave we got back to serious softball playing. The Undergrad team dominated the spring game and came away winners by a large margin. We had our annual awards banquet and announced the new officers for 1986-1987.

We are looking foward to only participating at North Carolina next year. Gig'em Ags.

Four years before the Alamo, he helped light the torch for freedom right in the heart of East Texas.

William Barret Travis is best known by Texans as the heroic commander at the battle of the Alamo. But his leadership in the struggle for Texas independence began much earlier.

In 1832, his imprisonment by the Mexican governor at Anahuac in Liberty County so inflamed East Texans that they raised an army to free Travis and posted a document named the Turtle Bay Resolutions.

Travis's confinement and the Resolutions became a rallying point against the abuses of the Mexican authorities and were among the first steps taken in Texans' fight for independence.

The last flag of the Alamo...

In the blood red dawn of March 6, 1836, a single blue flag still flew over the topmost point of the Alamo. On the blue banner were the words "First Company of Texan Volunteers from New Orleans, God and Liberty". It was to be the last flag flown by the Texas garrison, and it typifies the story of the Texas fight for independence.

In October of 1835, a meeting was held at Bank's Arcade in New Orleans. There, a group of Texans led by Adolphus Sterne of Nacogdoches offered rifles and aid to the first men who would join the Texas fight.

Two companies of volunteers answered Sterne's plea and formed The New Orleans Greys - over 100 men from 12 states and 6 foreign countries who joined "the noble cause". The Louisiana Volunteers received their flag at San Augustine and carried it to San Antonio, to Goliad, and finally into the siege of the Alamo.

Of the 182 men who died defending the Alamo, no record remains telling how many were part of The New Orleans Greys. Only the men's names were known - not their battle units. And it doesn't really matter.

During those immortal 13 days at the Alamo, all the men became more than a garrison of different units. As John Meyers later wrote, they became eternally "symbols of valor in the minds of men".
